Support Functions and Services

Education and Training

- Conduct regular education and training, internship and community exposure programs.
- Develop and popularize training modules, resource books and identify reference materials in the following areas:
  a. Integrated and Holistic Framework for IPSSDD
  b. International Human Rights Law and Instruments (e.g., UNDRIP)
  c. Multilateral Environmental Agreements (e.g., CBD, UN Framework Convention on Climate Change/UNFCCC, etc.), the Green Climate Fund and climate finance
  d. Community-Based Monitoring and Information Systems (CBMIS) and Participatory Community Mapping and Biodiversity Resource Inventory
  e. Capacity building for research, advocacy and campaigns, use of information and communication technologies
  f. Gender sensitivity and gender analysis
  g. Governance
  h. Participatory, indigenous-sensitive action research and documentation

Research and Documentation

- Provide guidance to researchers under the different priority program areas.
- Organize learning sessions of the Indigenous Peoples’ Global Research and Education Network (IPGREN) to discuss indigenous-sensitive research methodologies and approaches.

Engendering Indigenous Peoples’ Formations

- Promote gender sensitivity and gender equality within indigenous peoples’ organizations, networks and communities
- Strengthen and facilitate indigenous women’s participation in relevant global, regional and national processes
- Support advocacy and campaigns of indigenous women for effective implementation of the CEDAW and other human rights laws and instruments
- Jointly organize and undertake research, advocacy and training activities with indigenous women organizations and networks.

Institution, Network, Partnership and Leadership Building and Development

- Develop and nurture partnerships with indigenous organizations and indigenous communities, UN bodies and missions, the academe, and other civil society organizations and formations.
- Provide secretariat and administrative support to various indigenous peoples’ networks:
  - Indigenous Peoples’ Global Partnership on Climate Change, Forests and Sustainable Development
  - Indigenous Peoples’ Global Research and Education Network
  - Indigenous Peoples’ Global Network on the Extractive Industries
  - Asian Indigenous Women’s Network
- Support advocacy and campaigns of indigenous women for effective implementation of the CEDAW and other human rights laws and instruments.
- Jointly organize and undertake research, advocacy and training activities with indigenous women’s organizations and networks.

Publication, Information and Awareness

- Popularize IPSSDD through the development and implementation of Tebtebba’s communications strategy.
- Develop and publish information and education materials, videos and other multimedia:
  a. Indigenous Perspectives and Tebtebba Magazine
  b. Policy and Briefing Papers
  c. Tebtebba Indigenous Information Service and Quarterly News Bulletin
  d. Books, Training Modules and other Special Publications
  e. Video clips and other multimedia.
- Manage the different websites (www.tebtebba.org, www.indigenousclimate.org, www.indigenousbiodiv.org), the indigenous listserves, and maximize the use of social media.
- Develop the Tebtebba special library on indigenous peoples and network with other libraries.

Partners

- [List of partners and supporters]

Main Donors

- [List of main donors]

Supporting Partners

- [List of supporting partners and initiatives]
A world, which isunderpinned by the core values of human rights, balance, equity and coexistence, on all issues affecting them. It was actively engaged in the process of drafting and negotiating the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (UNDRIP) and getting it adopted by the UN General Assembly on 13 September 2007. Tebtebba and its partners are expanding and operationalizing the Indigenous Peoples’ Sustainable, Self-Determined Development and Strategy (IPSSDD) in support of and in alignment with all the United Nations and United Nations agencies, common positions, and concerted actions.

In 1996, Tebtebba (Indigenous Peoples’ International Centre for Policy Research and Action) was established in the Republic of the Philippines under SEC. Registration No. B199600209. It is the only international indigenous peoples’ organization which is directly related to the United Nations and is legally registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission of the Philippines under SEC. Registration No. B199600209.

Mission of Tebtebba

To advance indigenous peoples’ human rights, unbridled by the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (UNDRIP) and other Human Rights Conventions and instruments, are vital for protecting and advancing the life, rights and well-being of indigenous peoples’ movements, formations and communities at various levels, which is pursued in alignment with the United Nations’ 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, where respect for diversity, human rights, solidarity and intercultural communication and publication; policy advocacy; campaigns and networking; human rights-, ecosystem- and knowledge-based approaches. Tebtebba and its partners in key climate change processes, the Green Climate Fund and the international financial institutions.

Tebtebba and its partners are expanding and operationalizing the Indigenous Peoples’ Sustainable, Self-Determined Development and Strategy (IPSSDD) in support of and in alignment with all the United Nations and United Nations agencies, common positions, and concerted actions.

In 1996, Tebtebba (Indigenous Peoples’ International Centre for Policy Research and Action) was established in the Republic of the Philippines under SEC. Registration No. B199600209. It is the only international indigenous peoples’ organization which is directly related to the United Nations and is legally registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission of the Philippines under SEC. Registration No. B199600209.

Mission of Tebtebba

To advance indigenous peoples’ human rights, unbridled by the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (UNDRIP) and other Human Rights Conventions and instruments, are vital for protecting and advancing the life, rights and well-being of indigenous peoples’ movements, formations and communities at various levels, which is pursued in alignment with the United Nations’ 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, where respect for diversity, human rights, solidarity and intercultural communication and publication; policy advocacy; campaigns and networking; human rights-, ecosystem- and knowledge-based approaches. Tebtebba and its partners in key climate change processes, the Green Climate Fund and the international financial institutions.

Tebtebba and its partners are expanding and operationalizing the Indigenous Peoples’ Sustainable, Self-Determined Development and Strategy (IPSSDD) in support of and in alignment with all the United Nations and United Nations agencies, common positions, and concerted actions.

In 1996, Tebtebba (Indigenous Peoples’ International Centre for Policy Research and Action) was established in the Republic of the Philippines under SEC. Registration No. B199600209. It is the only international indigenous peoples’ organization which is directly related to the United Nations and is legally registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission of the Philippines under SEC. Registration No. B199600209.

Mission of Tebtebba

To advance indigenous peoples’ human rights, unbridled by the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (UNDRIP) and other Human Rights Conventions and instruments, are vital for protecting and advancing the life, rights and well-being of indigenous peoples’ movements, formations and communities at various levels, which is pursued in alignment with the United Nations’ 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, where respect for diversity, human rights, solidarity and intercultural communication and publication; policy advocacy; campaigns and networking; human rights-, ecosystem- and knowledge-based approaches. Tebtebba and its partners in key climate change processes, the Green Climate Fund and the international financial institutions.

Tebtebba and its partners are expanding and operationalizing the Indigenous Peoples’ Sustainable, Self-Determined Development and Strategy (IPSSDD) in support of and in alignment with all the United Nations and United Nations agencies, common positions, and concerted actions.

In 1996, Tebtebba (Indigenous Peoples’ International Centre for Policy Research and Action) was established in the Republic of the Philippines under SEC. Registration No. B199600209. It is the only international indigenous peoples’ organization which is directly related to the United Nations and is legally registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission of the Philippines under SEC. Registration No. B199600209.